Omen of Spring: Anti-Cigarette Commercials a Disaster

I couldn't care less about the legend of the ground hog—but on Wednesday I did see a sure sign of Spring.

There was a rumpus in my "Back 40" game preserve. Ordinarily my wild Canadian Honkers are on the best of terms with my pair of native white geese. But not on Wednesday.

On Wednesday one of my Canadian ganders raised an angry cry and charged into Gen. Charles deGaulle, whimsical name for a 25-pound white Emder gander. The Canada doesn't weigh a feather over 18 pounds—but he ran the bigger bird bow-legged, finally snatching a feather out of the white-tailed fugitive.

From past observation I can tell you this is a sure sign of Spring—when wildlife gets its gander up...

People who worry about other folks—and annoy them—usually get their come-uppance.

For some years now the American public has had imposed upon it TV messages against cigarettes, but human nature being what it is the effect of these messages has been to increase rather than decrease cigarette sales.

This morning's Wall Street Journal reports that in 1970 the three largest cigarette manufacturers had the greatest year in their history.

A fair and not unsurprising return for bossy folks who meddle with other people's lives.

And I have more right to my attack than do those who talk against cigarettes over the politically licensed TV stations. The same resentment exists among the majority of Americans—as the sales figures disclose.

Fights Close School at Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — School Supt. W. E. McGuire said today that 212 pupils at Texarkana, Tex., High School were temporarily suspended today in connection with Wednesday's fighting between black and white pupils.

McGuire said the School Board, which has a regular meeting scheduled tonight, will have to rule on whether it wants to uphold the school's policy, and, if so, the suspensions would be made permanent for the rest of the year.

The school's policy is that any student taking part in major disruptive activities will be suspended for the remainder of the semester and receive failing grades in all courses.

The school of 1,600 students was closed shortly before noon Wednesday when about 200 black and white pupils began fighting on the campus. Five pupils, three whites and two blacks, were arrested on charges ranging from disobeying a police officer to carrying a prohibitive weapon.

No trouble was reported at the school today as classes resumed. There were about 100 law enforcement officers on the campus.

Cordination Is Sought

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers asked the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission Wednesday to coordinate its program with that of the state Pollution Control Commission.

Bumpers said that unless there was adequate planning, the state someday might have to turn away industry because of pollution problems.

The governor spoke to the commission at its regular monthly meeting.

The commission accepted Wednesday Bumpers' nomination of James Daniel Roebuck of Fort Smith as the new director of the commission. Roebuck succeeds Adrian Williamson Jr., who resigned from the post effective March 1.

STUDENT UNREST offhand would appear to be getting out of hand at England's once superstitious Cambridge. The artillery, as it turns out, wasn't serious although the student's point of protest was—the government's expulsion order against German radical student leader "Red" Rudi Dutschke, temporarily a guest at Cambridge.

WHAT'S A NICE WORD LIKE "LOVE" doing in a place like this? It's the work of an unknown artist on a once floating drydock in Sausalito Bay, Calif., now stuck in the mud and destined to be converted from eyesore into cultural center. Artists and students will be ferried out to the planned craft shops, classrooms, exhibitions and auditorium.

In Our Society Money and Prestige Just Mean Everything

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — We live in a roller coaster society in which everybody knows you when you're up and nobody knows you when you're down.

It is a society in which money is almost everything—and everything that money isn't, prestige is.

So it behooves you to keep your stature showing at all times. This requires periodic checkups.

Here's a ready guide to whether you're a climbing or falling star in that little niche of life you call your own.

You're doing okay if—

McLarty Discusses Tax Issues, Merit System, Educational Problems

By MACK McLARTY
State Representative
Hempstead County

When Dale Bumpers decided that he wanted to be Governor of Arkansas I feel sure that he had little idea of the realities of the day-to-day difficulty in serving in the toughest job in Arkansas.

Likewise, Mack McLarty is beginning to feel the pangs of worry which accompany the office of State Representative. I have learned unequivocally that there are indeed two (or more) sides to every question. The difficulty is in committing yourself to what you feel is in the best interests of the majority of the people, painfully aware that many people are going to be unhappy. So much for the crying towel.

1. MERIT SYSTEM

Last week the House passed the Administration bill to create a merit system for state employees. The bill passed by a plus of 4 votes (55 to 39) required for passage. We anticipate strong opposition in the Senate.

The real purposes of the bill are twofold: (1) to greatly diminish the age-old practice known as patronage (2) to encourage the better qualified people to remain in government service thus bringing greater order and a more businesslike stature to state government. For those reasons I supported the bill. Coupled with the Governor's Reorganization Bill the merit system should have the effect of bringing about a more economical, efficient state government. The merit system is somewhat similar to the civil service system for federal employees. Hires and promotions would be based on competitive examinations and employees could not be fired simply due to a change in political administrations. I must praise Rep. Thomas Sparks of Fordyce for his courage in a hard-fought battle to gain the winning votes and his efforts to dispel the myths of misinformation regarding such a system.

2. MOBILE HOMES

Also last week, the Roads and Highways Committee gave a do-pass recommendation to a bill which would aid Arkansas' $100 million mobile-home industry. This industry employs 10,000 Arkansans. This bill, if adopted, would allow the transporting of 14-foot wide mobile homes on Arkansas highways—adhering to rules of safety necessary for such movement. It should be

Vietnamese Cut Major Supply Lines

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces cut three major North Vietnamese supply routes through southern Laos and drove back two Communist attacks in eastern Cambodia, killing 116 of the enemy, military spokesmen announced today.

Heavy American air strikes along the South Vietnamese-Cambodian border, about midway between the two ground drives, hit at North Vietnamese buildups threatening South Vietnam's central highlands, and another 56 enemy were reported killed.

The strikes could presage a new South Vietnamese push into northeast Cambodia. About 2,500 South Vietnamese troops are massed 12 miles from the border.

A spokesman for the South Vietnamese command also announced that 16,000 Saigon troops are now operating in Laos, an increase of 5,000, and 1,600 fresh troops have been committed to the Cambodian campaign.

The battle fronts shaped up this way:

—16,000 South Vietnamese operating in Laos cut east-west Route 9 between the border and

School Aid Distribution Plan Passed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The school aid distribution formula bill whizzed through the Senate 34-0 Wednesday and was sent to the House.

The formula, usually a bitterly debated issue, was approved without a complaint.

Sens. Robert Harvey of Swifton, John F. Bearden Jr. of Leachville and Tom Watson of Monette each endorsed the proposal, although they said it satisfied none of them perfectly.

"We decided to go for this rather than risk something worse," Bearden told the Senate.

The bill sets the formula for distributing any increased money for school operations or teacher salaries. Operations money would be under a 3 to 1 formula and teacher salaries money under a 2½ to 1 formula.

The formula represents a floor and a ceiling. On teacher salary, no increase would be more than 2½ times the smallest increase. On operations, no increase would be more than three times the smallest increase.

The formula, Watson said, was designed to close the gap between the highs and the lows in teacher salaries and operations expenditures.

The House approved 78-9 an administration bill by Reps. L. L. "Doc" Bryan of Russellville and Sterlin Hurley of Clarksville to put open cut mining of coal, clay, stone, sand, gravel, bauxite and other minerals under land reclamation regulations to be administered by the state Pollution Control Commission.

North Vietnam Warned U.S. to Retaliate in the Air to Protect Troops

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has advised North Vietnam he is ready to retaliate with massive airpower anywhere it is needed in Indochina to protect American troops.

Repeating a pledge made three weeks ago by Secretary of State William P. Rogers, the President said: "I am not going to place any limitation upon the use of airpower..." ruling out only nuclear weapons.

Nixon's statement at a news conference Wednesday in his Oval Office put Hanoi on notice that either of several thrusts could provoke a U.S. bombing.

Nixon repeated no U.S. ground troops will be used in

Even Foes of Filibuster See Defeat

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator trying to make it easier to choke off filibusters lost a first test vote Thursday.

On a move to halt a Southern-led filibuster against a proposed change in Senate rules, the vote was 48 for and 37 against, or 9 short of the necessary two-thirds majority of senators voting.

A second attempt is planned next week to cut off the debate that began Jan. 26 on the proposal to permit filibusters to be halted by a three-fifths majority of senators voting rather than the two-thirds majority now required by the rules.

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and James B. Pearson, R-Kan., are leading a bipartisan drive for the three-fifths rule with 49 other senators cosponsoring the change. This majority of the Senate is all that is needed for adoption of a three-fifths rule if the filibuster of opponents can be broken with a two-thirds vote.

Church and Pearson said they hope to pick up additional votes on subsequent tries, and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield predicted they will.

Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott are backing the more liberal rule. "The fact that both leaders are for it and the White House smiles on it should improve chances," Scott commented.

The White House said last week President Nixon favors any change in rules that would enable the Senate to handle its business more promptly.

Debate on the issue began Jan. 26, shortly after the start of the present Congress.

Hope Girls Defeated by Stamps

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Falling behind early last night, the Hope Ladycats never could get going and fell victim to the Stamp Yellowjackets, 54-35, in their second district clash.

The Ladies finished the season with an 11-10 record while Stamps stays in contention with a 20-3 slate.

With Stamps taking the tipoff and a 4-0 lead, before Janet McCain could hit two points for Hope with 5:29 to go, another Yellowjacket free throw forced the Ladycats into a timeout.

Only two field goals were made by the Ladycats in the next two minutes and after Betty Rodden sank two charity shots with no time left on the clock, Stamps had built up a 17-8 margin.

However, at the start of the second period, the Ladycats started hitting.

Dee Singleton started the spree with a close layup, and shots by McCain and Rodden pulled Hope to within two, 19-17, with 4:56 left in the first half.

But the Ladycats quickly went cold and three points by Singleton were the last points of the half for Hope. With the shooting and good stalling exhibition Stamps built up a 28-20 halftime margin.

For the first few minutes of the second half, neither team could do much, but with 3:30 left in the period, Diane Kimble and Sandy McCoy each hit two consecutive free throws to up Stamps margin to 36-25.

One basket by McCain was all the scoring in the last half of the period for the Ladycats, but Stamps continued at a fairly even pace and soon jumped out to a 41-27 lead entering the final period.

Taking the ball first on the jump, Stamps began immediately to hit and only getting two field goals by Rodden during most of the period, the Ladycats found themselves trailing, 54-31, with just 46 seconds left to play. With just 15 seconds left McCain drove in for a layup and nine seconds later Bonnie Willis hit the final points by sinking two free throws.

McCain hit 14 points, Rodden sank 10, Singleton hit nine, and Willis popped in two, while McCoy and Kimble hit 28 and 22, respectively for the Yellowjackets.

On Friday night the Bobcats and B-Bruins host the Arkadelphia Badgers in a crucial district game. Hope needs this one to stay in district contention. Both games will be broadcast over KXAR.

Muhammad Ali was in Miami Beach to inspect the most verbal half of the Garden's multimillion dollar heavyweight title show March 8.

Trevino Is Determined at Tucson

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — There was an undercurrent of grim determination beneath the wise-cracking, fast-talking exterior as Lee Trevino teed off in the first-round of the $110,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament today.

"I've got to get it going," said the happy-go-lucky Mexican-American, a great local favorite.

"I haven't played much this year, really only two tournaments, and that's not like me. I play all the time, everyday. But I haven't played much this year and I've had some troubles putting. I played great in Hawaii, but I couldn't get the ball in the hole."

"But that's coming around now. Putting great. Just great. It happens every year when I get to Tucson. The way I play here, I might have to move out here."

The brash Trevino, a native of desert border country similar to this in El Paso, Tex., has won the last two Tucson Opens on the 7,305-yard, par 72 Tucson National Golf Club course and was a heavy favorite to make it three in a row.

The tough, talkative character, with an engaging grin, has finished only two tournaments this season, eighth in Los Angeles and fourth in the Hawaiian Open.

He's been out of action the rest of the time, first because of the illness of his mother and last week because of the flu.

"Time is running out," said Trevino, the leading money winner and Vardon Trophy champion last year. "One of my major goals is to win a tournament early in the season, before the Tournament of Champions so I can get in that tournament."

"You see, both of my wins last year were before the Tournament of Champions, so I've got to win again to get in it. That's one of my big goals. And this will be as good a place as any."

Among Trevino's chief challengers for the $22,000 first prize are Bob Murphy, who lost to Trevino in a playoff here last year, Tom Shaw, winner of two tournaments this year, always dangerous Gene Littler, San Diego winner George Archer and Bob Lunn.

Among the missing are Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper, and U.S. Open Champ Tony Jacklin, all prepping for next week's PGA National Championship in Florida.

Mel Pender Just Keeps on Winning

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "When you gonna quit old man?" Mel Pender hears this quite a bit from his younger competitors but he has a quick answer which is nearly as fast as his feet. "After the 1972 Olympic Games."

The youngsters grin at the reply but not many are laughing after the old man of the sprinters at 33 beats them again and again.

The latest victories by the Army Captain and in his first year of coaching track at West Point, came this past weekend when he won in Los Angeles and Louisville, Ky.

"I keep hearing the same question," said Pender today. "The only way they'll get rid of me is when I can't win anymore. And I don't think that'll be soon."

The amazing two-time Olympian, a native of Atlanta, has three triumphs on the indoor track this year but was complaining of assorted ailments before his stunning victory at Louisville.

The 16-year career Army man, who has had two tours of Viet Nam, his latest, ending less than six months ago, has been rated the quickest starter in the world and admits it but says he has to be quick out of the blocks to survive.

"I have to get out or I'd never keep up with these guys like Jim Green or the doctor Dr. Del Meriwether, the latest indoor sprint sensation. I really concentrate on the start and I have quick reflexes."

Baseball Signing Fuss Begins

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dave McNally and Mike Cuellar, the left-handed half of Baltimore's pitching punch, appear headed for holdouts this spring. And even if they eventually get what they want, their combined salaries probably won't match the total Carl Yastrzemski is working for this year.

Yastrzemski, the Boston slugger who missed winning the American League batting title by .0003 last season, signed a three-year contract Wednesday that may make him the highest paid player in baseball.

"I would not have signed a three-year contract," said Yaz, "unless I got what I wanted."

What Yaz wanted was estimated at something over $150,000 annually. His three-year pact may be worth a total of $500,000 which would be about $167,000 each year.

All Dick O'Connell, the Red Sox general manager would say was that the pact made Yastrzemski "the highest paid player in the American League."

Meanwhile, McNally, who was 16 days late for training camp last year when he finally agreed to a $65,000 pact, seems intent on reaching $100,000 this time around after his third straight 20-victory season. He is being represented in negotiations by a Cleveland management firm.

"I would say we are not yet close to an agreement," said Harry Dalton, the Orioles' front office boss.

Cuellar, like McNally a 24-game winner last year, wants a $25,000 raise to $60,000, about $10,000 more than Dalton is offering.

Boog Powell and Frank Robinson are also unsigned Orioles. Minnesota added catchers Paul Radloff and George Mitterwald and relief ace Stan Williams, but are still far apart in negotiations with slugger Tony Oliva and pitcher Jim Perry.

Oliva is asking for $100,000 and Perry, the Cy Young Award winner last year, wants $90,000—about $30,000 more than Cal Griffith is offering.

Elsewhere, the New York Yankees signed pitcher Mel Stottlemyre for $75,000, and Pittsburgh added three players including pitcher Luke Walker and first baseman Bob Robertson.

Richey Turns Down Pro Contract

By GORDON BEARD

Associated Press Sports Writer

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Cliff Richey has been a free-spirit too long to be considered now as a candidate for a bit and bridle.

"At this stage of my career, at age 24," Richey said today, "I want to pace myself, and do what I want to do."

That's why America's top-ranked tennis player turned down an informal bid to sign a contract with LaMar Hunt's World Championship Tennis, Inc. and remained an independent pro.

The independent tag seems to describe Richey's personality, and even he admits with a smile: "I guess it does fit my life style."

Two contract pros, Rod Laver and Ken Rosewall of the WCT's 32-man stable, led the tennis money-winners last year, but Richey did very well indeed as he finished in third place just short of $100,000 in earnings.

"I was contacted informally last July," said Richey, who defeated fellow American Dick Stockton, 6-4, 7-5 Wednesday night and advanced to the quarterfinals of the U.S. National Indoor Open Tennis Championships. "We didn't discuss a contract, but I was told that they would if I were interested."

"I like arranging my own schedule," Richey said. "If I want to play in Salisbury, I want to do it without asking LaMar Hunt or his man, Mike Davies."

The reference was to the complete absence of contract pros in the Indoor Open, following a dispute over the number and quality of WCT's entries between Davies and Bill Riordan, the tournament chairman.

"I imagine if I had signed, I could have gotten a contract with a good schedule," Richey said. "But I would have had to give up a couple of things, too."

"The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association is not going to give you the benefit of the doubt in their rankings, if you're not under their banner."

"And, as a contract pro, you can't play in the Davis Cup. The Davis Cup may not be as important as it used to be—it has lost some color—But it is still a major event and it's good exposure."

Richey, the No. 1 domestic seed in the tournament, will play Thomaz Koch of Brazil, the No. 4 foreign seed, in the quarterfinals tonight. The other match involves unseeded players Tom Curtis of Great Britain and Vladimir Zednik of Czechoslovakia.

Curtis advanced Wednesday when Jim Osborne, the No. 4 domestic seed, had to retire in the first set after breaking a bone in his right hand when he tumbled on the court. Zednik, who previously upset the second-seeded foreigner, Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, advanced with a 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, decision over Terry Addison of Australia.

Defending champion and No. 1 foreign seed, Ilie Nastase of Rumania, who defeated Richey in the finals last year, won 6-4, 6-4 over Richard Russell of Jamaica in the third round.

His quarterfinal opponent Friday night will be Seattle's Tom Gorman, the No. 3 domestic seed, who ousted Gerald Battrick of Great Britain, 6-2, 6-0.

Friday's other match pits second-seeded American Clark Graebner against unseeded Jaime Fillol of Chile. Graebner whipped Martin Mulligan of Italy on Wednesday, 7-5, 6-1, and Fillol breezed past Juan Gisbert of Spain, 6-2, 6-2.

Returns to Really Haunt the Bullets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mike Davis, who was sent shuffling off to the expansionist Buffalo Braves by Baltimore after last season, has come back to haunt the Bullets.

Davis scored 22 points, including the game clinchers with a pair of foul shots with two seconds left, as the Braves edged the Bullets 118-114 in the National Basketball Association Wednesday night.

Bob Kauffman got 24 points and Don May 20 for Buffalo while Earl Monroe led Baltimore with 26.

In other NBA action, Milwaukee topped Philadelphia 119-114, Chicago took Cleveland 109-104, Phoenix mauled Cincinnati 133-117, Seattle thwarted Portland 130-126 and Boston whipped San Francisco 129-99.

Carolina downed Texas 116-111 and New York upended Virginia 128-120 in the only American Basketball Association games.

With Lew Alcindor showing the way with 41 points, Milwaukee made Philadelphia its eighth straight victim. Billy Cunningham paced Philadelphia with 26 points.

A second-half scoring binge by Bob Love and Chet Walker sent Chicago past Cleveland. Love scored 20 of his 30 points and Walker 17 of his 32 after intermission. John Johnson notched 30 for Cleveland.

Phoenix started its rout of Cincinnati by scoring 10 straight points early in the fourth quarter. Clem Haskins scored 29 points for the Suns. Charlie Paulk hit 27 for Cincinnati.

Seattle squandered a 15-point lead over Portland and then rallied in the final four minutes. The SuperSonics led 106-91 before Jim Barnett's basket with 4:29 to go put the Trail Blazers ahead 120-119.

The score was tied 122-all

Duquesne Chalks Up 14th in Row

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Debonair Dukes of Duquesne are rolling along smoothly on the high road in college basketball.

They chalked up their 14th in a row by beating LaSalle 95-86 Wednesday night, thereby strengthening their chances of being invited to one of the two major post-season tournaments, the NCAA and the NIT.

Jarrett Durham and Mickey Davis, who did most of the clutch shooting and playmaking, sparked the nationally 10th-ranked Pittsburghers over the 11th-ranked Explorers of Philadelphia.

The Dukes, now 18-2, have bowled over William and Mary, Xavier of Ohio, St. Francis, Pa., Notre Dame, Cleveland State, St. Bonaventure, DePaul, Creighton, Santa Clara, San Francisco, Villanova, Providence, Rhode Island and LaSalle in a row. They have four regular season games left, against St. Peters, Boston College, Niagara and Detroit.

South Carolina, North Carolina and Louisville, the only other teams in the Associated Press Top Twenty to see action, also won.

South Carolina, No. 7, whipped N.C. State 79-63 behind John Roche's 41 points. North Carolina, No. 8, overpowered Maryland 100-76 and Louisville, No. 19, tightened its hold on first place in the Missouri Valley Conference by routing Drake 94-52.

Miami of Ohio clinched at least a tie for the Mid-American Conference title by shading Kent State 65-63 on four points by Steve Handy in the closing minutes. It was the eighth straight for Miami Redskins.

Will Robinson threw in 32 points to lead West Virginia over Virginia Tech 93-82.

In other games, Villanova drubbed Canisius 82-59, Syracuse tripped St. John's of New York 78-73, St. Bonaventure trampled Creighton 104-84, Rutgers overwhelmed Army 76-40, Navy humbled American U. 83-66, West Texas hammered Pan American 96-64 and Xavier shaded Cincinnati, its crosstown rival, 66-65 on Bob Fullerton's two free throws with five seconds left.

ECAC Makes Freshmen Eligible

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern College Athletic Conference has eased some of the financial burden on its members by making freshmen eligible for all sports on the College Division level.

But it turned down a proposal that would have allowed freshmen to play University Varsity Division hockey and as a result some of the larger schools may have to curtail their athletic programs.

Had the hockey legislation passed, it would have been a money-saver by virtually eliminating the need for separate freshman teams.

The smaller schools did get some much-needed relief, however, when the ECAC membership passed by a vote of 91-40 legislation making freshmen eligible for all College Division sports as of Aug. 1. They had been allowed to play all sports except football, basketball and hockey.

In adopting that amendment, the ECAC was following the lead of the parent National Collegiate Athletic Association, which last month declared freshmen eligible for all College Division NCAA championship events but left it up to the individual conferences whether to make them eligible for regular season play. The ECAC took care of that Wednesday.

when Seattle erupted for six points in a row. Barry Clemens' field goal gave the Sonics a 130-124 lead.

Dick Snyder topped Seattle with 25 points and Geoff Petrie was high for Portland with 26.

Boston scored 37 points in the third period and went on to humble San Francisco. Jo Jo White collected 13 of his 24 points for the Celtics in the quarter.

Dave Cowens led Boston with 20 points while rookie Levi Fontaine collected all 16 of his points for the Warriors in the final stanza.

Turns Cold Wood Into a Hot Stick

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The hottest stick in the National Hockey League belongs to Minnesota's Bill Goldsworthy, who had one of the coldest woods for the first 44 games this season.

Goldsworthy continued his sudden goal-scoring spurt with two more Wednesday night, leading the North Stars to a 3-2 victory over California. The triumph moved Minnesota into third place in the NHL's West Division.

Elsewhere Wednesday night, Montreal blanked New York 3-0, Toronto took Pittsburgh 4-3, Chicago trimmed Buffalo 5-1 and Philadelphia shut out Los Angeles 4-0.

Goldsworthy's two goals gave him 15 in the last 14 games and 21 for the season. A 36-goal scorer last year, Goldsworthy had managed just six in the first 44 games this season before his hot streak. He has scored in seven consecutive games.

Judes Drouin, who has at least one point in 14 consecutive games for the North Stars, set up both of Goldsworthy's goals as well as Minnesota's winner scored by Danny Grant.

Goalie Rogation Vachon kicked out 35 shots as Montreal blanked New York. Peter Mahovich's second period goals snapped a scoreless tie and then Yvan Cournoyer and Jacques Lemaire added third period goals for the Canadiens.

Vachon called the game one of his best ever. "I felt good," the little goalie said. "It was for sure one of my best games this season, if not the best I've had in this building."

Toronto remained five points back of third-place Montreal in the NHL East by edging Pittsburgh.

Norm Ullman's power play goal with 5½ minutes left snapped a 3-3 tie and moved the Leafs to their victory. Dave Keon, Bob Baun and Rick Ley scored the other Leaf goals as Toronto won its 29th game, matching last season's victory total. Bob Woytowich, Wally Boyer and Keith McCreary connected for the Penguins.

Chicago used two goals apiece from Cliff Koroll and Jim Pappin to whip Buffalo and open a 19-point lead over idle St. Louis in the West.

Doug Favell of Philadelphia registered his second shutout and turned aside 28 shots by Los Angeles. The blanking was the Kings' second consecutive and they have not scored in 162 minutes.

The victory snapped Philadelphia's five-game unbeaten streak and moved the Flyers into fourth place by one point over Pittsburgh in the West Division.

Andre Lacroix, Serge Bernier, Gary Dornhoefer and Brent Hughes accounted for the Philadelphia goals.

American History Month Started in 1952

February was first proclaimed as American History Month by the Governor of Kentucky in 1952, at the request of the Daughters of the American Revolution, who sponsor the observance each year.

Special emphasis is placed upon the study of the history of our great nation, that we may better appreciate our heritage. This year the Daughters of the American Revolution urge every loyal American to read, or re-read, the Constitution of the United States of America in order to know the guarantees and protection it provides each one of us.

The Framers of the Constitution were intellectual giants with great respect for the lessons of history. By their genius, they drafted this document which still serves us today, one hundred and eighty-four years later, most effectively.

Penney Reports Credit Costs Exceed Revenues

NEW YORK—J. C. Penney Company, Inc. reported today that credit costs exceeded service charge revenues by $23 million in the 1969 fiscal year, the most recent year for which complete data are available.

Speaking before the New York Society of Security Analysts, Kenneth S. Axelson, vice president and director of finance and administration, gave a breakdown of figures on the net cost of credit during 1969. The figures for both 1969 and 1970 will be detailed in the Company's 1970 annual report and certified by its auditors.

Credit costs in 1969 amounted to $102 million, including interest of $44 million to finance customer receivables; provision for bad debts totalling $16 million, and $42 million to administer customer credit through the firm's 11 regional credit offices.

On the other hand, the Company collected $79 million in service charge revenues on customer receivables.

None of the figures listed included "in-store" credit costs—the people who handle inquiries and applications, receive payments, and check credit limits—and the extra clerical expenses incurred in credit transactions.

Axelson pointed out that the net cost of credit in 1969 of $23 million was equal to 1.6 per cent of total credit sales. In 1968, before the dramatic increase in interest rates, Penney's net cost of credit was $8 million, or 0.7 per cent of credit sales. While final figures are not available yet, Axelson estimated that net credit costs for fiscal 1970 which ended Jan. 30 will be close to those of 1969.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cinderella of television, the educational network, has been breaking some new ground with its weekly series, "The Great American Dream Machine."

This magazine format show moves from broadest comedy to drama, from subtle satire to pungent editorializing simply by shifting scenes.

Frequently, its reach exceeds its grasp, but often it hits home. On Wednesday night, for example, the 90 minutes wound up with an impressive corollary between the early days of slavery and today's enslavement of man by poverty. Earlier in the program there were excerpts from the Rev. Daniel Berrigan's off-Broadway play, "Trial of the Catonsville Nine."

This week's edition leaned on the sober side and some of the attempted humor was pretty fuzzy. A tongue-in-cheek assault on sugar-coated cereals included an admonition to children to avoid nutritious breakfasts "because you've nothing to lose but your teeth."

The introduction of freshman U.S. Rep. Louise Day Hicks of Massachusetts consisted of playing the old Chevalier song, "Louise," suggesting some satire was in the offing. Then Mrs. Hicks was permitted to make a speech about school integration, busing and the Communist menace—all very serious.

The program uses sound, color and camera tricks lavishly. It is often irritating in its loudness and repetition, occasionally goes over board and often gets a little arty. But "The Great American Dream Machine" is an ambitious effort to climb out of some of those tiresome TV formats.

George Schlatter, the creator and producer of "Laugh-In" which broke some commercial TV molds three seasons back, believes that getting away from the tiresome forms—predictable situation comedy, the rigid agendas of the star-dominated weekly variety hour—is vital to the medium.

"I just don't think that television should be a sedative," he said. "At a time like this, when television has financial problems, the old philosophy just won't work. I think you must constantly find new forms, work with new ideas, find new faces."

"Laugh-In," with its furious pace, has had an effect on all variety shows that have followed it. It appears that "The Great American Dream Machine" with its wild and distant tive mix, its sound and fury, inevitably will be reflected in commercial television. Love it or hate it, it is certainly no sedative.

Get-Tough Economic Policy Seen

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration already weighing a get-tough policy to curb inflation, has new evidence gentle persuasion has failed to change the direction of most economic indicators.

The latest problem was in the wholesale price index, which jumped seven-tenths of one percent in January, as reported Wednesday, biggest monthly increase in a year. That's sometimes an indication of the consumer price trend which last year rose 5.5 per cent.

More uneasiness was reflected in another Wednesday report showing competition between banks and savings and loan associations is bolstering interest rates on savings. This, too, is an area in which the administration hopes for a shift to stabilize the economy.

Families tucked away 7 per cent of their disposable income last year and experts in the field say passbook interest rates should hold constant at 4½ to 5 per cent in the months ahead.

"I don't think the ceilings are going to come down," said Preston Martin, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. "We're not as a board considering any such move at this time."

Nixon's standard response to bad fiscal news until lately has been to predict his expansionary policies plus voluntary anti-inflation moves by labor and industry would bring the economy into line.

But in the last few days he has been changing his tune and pointing toward possible direct government intervention.

At a news conference Wednesday the President again said "there will be action" if the government fails to get a voluntary pledge from the construction industry next week to hold down prices and wages.

"The construction industry is a sick industry, not because of the quality of work but because of too rich a diet," Nixon said. "It is essential that the federal government use the power it can to bring about reasonable settlements and price stability."

In a less forceful but still direct move to spark the housing market, the government Wednesday lowered the maximum allowable interest rate to 7 per cent on mortgages it backs through the Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration. That reduces the rate to 1968 levels, after a high last year of 8½ per cent.

Another indication of economic discomfort Wednesday was some administration confusion over the Gross National Product.

The President is counting on a spectacular 9-per cent rise in the Gross National Product this year to revive the economy and hold his fiscal 1971-72 federal deficit to about $30 billion.

Secretary of Treasury John B. Connally asked the House Ways and Means Committee Wednesday to boost the federal debt limit by $40 billion—biggest single increase since World War II to a new high of $435 billion.

Connally said that should keep the treasury's red-ink ledgers within bounds through June 30, 1972. "We'll be back here before the 1972 election, even if you approve the whole rise," he added.

But in another room on Capitol Hill, Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans told the Senate-House Economic Committee his department's forecast of the GNP rise does not agree with the administration's. Stans said his projection, if correct, would add about $5 billion to the $11.6-billion deficit expected by Nixon economists in the next fiscal year.

The GNP dropped one-half of 1 per cent in 1970 for the first time in 12 years.

Corporate profit slumps reflected the GNP decrease.

A First National City Bank of New York survey of 483 manufacturing corporations shows they recorded an aggregate drop in earnings of 21 per cent during the fourth quarter of last year. That was a 5-per cent rise from the third-quarter total, but only about one-third of the usual seasonal increase.

The trend continued through January, according to the Federal Reserve Board, as industrial production rose modestly, seven-tenths of one per cent. The administration had hoped for more.

Premier's Relatives Gather

By BEVERLY PETERSON
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Cambodian Premier Lon Nol, recovering from a stroke, has been moved to a separate floor of Tripler Army Hospital amid tight security and a growing number of relatives.

A hospital spokesman said Lon Rith-Dara, 10, the oldest of three sons, and Lon Keng, brother of the premier and the Cambodian representative to UNESCO, arrived from Paris Tuesday night. The premier's wife and sister were reported by the State Department to have been with the original party of eight which arrived with the premier Saturday.

The party now officially numbers 14.

Lt. Col. Gilbert Bishop, Tripler spokesman, said Lon Nol was moved to the eighth floor of the hospital Tuesday. The floor, reserved for visiting dignitaries, has a panoramic view of the island, from Diamond Head to Pearl Harbor.

Bishop said Lon Nol's wife, sister, brother and son also have suites there, as does Dr. Kang Keng, Cambodia's minister of health and one of two physicians who accompanied the premier to Honolulu. The rest of the party is quartered near the hospital, which is on spacious grounds near the outskirts of Honolulu.

Military police now stand at the hospital's entrances and Secret Service agents, who arrived Saturday from the mainland, stand guard on the eighth floor. Bishop said it was the tightest security the hospital has seen for a patient since former South Korean President Syngman Rhee was treated there in 1962.

Lon Nol, who was brought to the hospital on a stretcher, is reported up and walking with the aid of a leg brace.

He undergoes physical therapy treatments twice a day. The stroke he suffered in Cambodia, called a cerebral vascular accident by physicians here, partly paralyzed his left side, but he is reported to be regaining use of both his arm and leg.

No Conclusion in Marshall Crash Probe

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)

A report by West Virginia State Police from investigations into the Nov. 14 Marshall University jetliner disaster makes no conclusions as to the cause of the crash except to say "the pilots believed they were flying at a safe altitude" when they crashed.

Sgt. Fred Donohoe of the Huntington detachment said there is no way I can draw any conclusions "except 'with all the data we have ... the pilots believed they were flying at a safe altitude during their approach to Tri-State Airport.'"

The Southern Airways DC9, carrying the Marshall football team, coaches and supporters, clipped tree tops on a high ridge west of the airport, plowed into a muddy hillside and exploded in flames. All 75 persons aboard were killed.

Donohoe said it is his belief the crew felt the jetliner was flying 200 to 300 feet above its actual altitude.

The Associated Press reported erroneously Wednesday that state police had listed the cause of the crash.

Administration Tax Issues Face Test

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An administration tax bill survived a major House test Wednesday, but more tests await three of the bills in the Senate today.

On the Senate agenda for late today were Gov. Dale Bumpers' bills to raise state income tax rates, repeal use tax exemptions and bring more services under the sales tax.

A rash of amendments probably will be offered.

The House rejected Wednesday an amendment Rep. L. L. "Doc" Bryan of Russellville had offered to its copy of the use tax repealer.

Bumpers was opposed to the amendment. The governor's bill would phase out over a two-year period the exemption enjoyed by utilities and transportation companies.

Bryan's amendment would have expanded the phase-out period to three years and also would have exempted from the 3 per cent tax the projects already under construction or already having approval of the Public Service or Commerce commissions.

Rep. Cecil Alexander of Heber Springs said the repeal bill was the key to the administration package. If the amendment were adopted, "You may as well throw away the whole tax program," he said.

Bumpers has called the use tax exemptions an obstacle to other tax legislation. People want the exemptions repealed before they are asked to pay more, he said.

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee had recommended adoption of Bryan's amendment.

Jonesboro to Vote on Bonds

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Craighead County voters will go to the polls March 23 to decide on a 4.2 mill tax increase to finance construction of a county general hospital. County Judge Bill R. Clark set the date Wednesday.

The vote will be countrywide and the proposed 100-bed facility will be located at Jonesboro. Clark estimated total cost of the project at $3.5 million.

Craighead County has only one other hospital, St. Bernard's, and that too is at Jonesboro.

AEA's Rozzell Wants Sales Tax Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Forest Rozzell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, said Wednesday night that even low-income voters would support an increase in the sales tax.

The association has termed a $26 million tax package by Gov. Dale Bumpers as inadequate to meet the needs of education. The association has asked for $30 million for education alone in the next fiscal year.

The AEA has called for an increase in the state's sales tax to raise the additional funds for education, but Bumpers has repeatedly said he does not favor such an increase because it is a "regressive tax," hitting low-income families the hardest.

Rozzell and Mrs. Alice Glover, the president-elect of the AEA, were interviewed during the taping of a television show to be shown Sunday by KARK-TV, Little Rock.

Top Enlisted Man Charged in PX Probe

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sgt. William O. Woodridge, once the Army's top enlisted man, has been charged with criminal conspiracy as the same Senate panel that was told he defrauded servicemen's clubs on three continents probed graft in the worldwide military PX system.

As the Justice Department did in its charges against Woodridge, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff's Senate investigations subcommittee focused its gaze Wednesday on activities in Vietnam and heard of lavish gifts from a promoter to the military men and civilians who stock the department store-like Army-Air Force post exchanges.

Woodridge, five other past or present Army sergeants, two civilians and a firm owned by Woodridge and four of the others were indicted by a federal grand jury in Los Angeles on charges they conspired between 1965 and 1969 to defraud non-commissioned officers' clubs in Vietnam.

Testimony in the subcommittee's 1969 investigation of Woodridge, sergeant major of the Army from 1966 to 1968 but stripped of a high medal and command responsibilities during the probe, painted a picture of widespread payoffs, kickbacks and stealing among the sergeants who ran the NCO clubs. Woodridge currently is sergeant major at the White Sands missile range in New Mexico.

Wednesday's testimony centered around 52-year-old William J. Crum, an American businessman who allegedly parlayed money, women, liquor and a lavish Saigon villa into a military commendation and $40 million profit from a slot machine concession and liquor sales at clubs and PX's.

The subcommittee's chief investigator, LaVern Duffy, introduced a 45-page statement containing letters written by Crum, twice banned from dealing with the military during the Korean War, that boasted of seeing the beer of one of his clients in the house of Brig. Gen. Charles R. "Monk" Meyer and of "getting along like peas in a pod" with two civilian officials of the PX system in Southeast Asia.

Crum, was a sales representative for Jim Bean Distillery Co. and Carling Brewery. He once held an exclusive contract for 1,700 slot machines in military clubs in Vietnam and was given an award for boosting morale of servicemen by Meyer in 1966, months after Crum provided the general with several gifts, the subcommittee was told.

Carling Wednesday said it "is dismayed to learn that an independent broker it hired in Vietnam may have been involved in illegal activities."

The Chinese-born and American-educated Crum has operated off a 69-foot yacht in Hong Kong Harbor, but his present whereabouts are uncertain.

Indicted with Woodridge were M. Sgt. William E. Higdon of Redstone Arsenal, Ala.; Sgt. 1. C. William C. Bagby of Ft. Shafter, Hawaii; retired Sgt. 1. C. Navaez Hatcher of Pensacola, Fla.; retired Sgt. 1. C. Seymour Lazar of Anaheim, Calif.; Theodore "Sam" Bass, a former Army NCO; and Charles and Irene Terhune, civilians now living in Middlesex, England.

Also named in the indictment was Marmed, Inc., a firm owned by Woodridge, Higdon, Hatcher, Lazar and Bass that sold food, bar supplies and other merchandise to NCO clubs.

Few Noticed Lord Snowden

NEW YORK (AP) — Britain's Lord Snowden came to lunch Wednesday and hardly anybody noticed.

One who did, a Daily News reporter, quoted the peer as saying:

"One of the reasons I so much enjoy coming to New York is that I'm left alone here and can enjoy some privacy."

Egypt Claims Acceptance of Proposals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Egypt says it has accepted all the peace proposals made by U.N. special envoy Gunnar V. Jarring, while Israel still insists on a signed peace treaty before it withdraws from any Arab territory.

Reporos published in Israel said Jarring proposed Israeli withdrawal from the Suez Canal and the Sinai Peninsula and stationing of a U.N. military force at Sharm el Sheikh to safeguard Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba.

Jarring also asked for "declarations of intent" from Israel, Jordan and Egypt and for their views on a peace settlement.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told the Knesset, Israel's parliament, that the central question still was whether Egypt would sign a document ending the 1967 war in all its forms.

Eban said he was skeptical about a statement by President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, published in Newsweek magazine, that he would agree to peace after a partial Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai Desert.

"Reality proves that positive statements by Arab leaders are usually followed by reservations and contradictions that cancel out positive ideas," Eban said.

In other developments: Egypt appeared to reject the proposed appointment of Akram Zueiter as Jordan's new ambassador to Cairo on grounds he is anti-Egyptian.

In Tel Aviv, police discounted Arab guerrilla claims to have been responsible for a blaze Tuesday which caused damage of $500,000 to the Shalom tower.

Censor Board Closes NLR Theater

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — North Little Rock Police and members of the city's Censor Board raided the Joy Twin Theater here Wednesday night and arrested four employees, confiscated two films, two projectors and then padlocked the building.

The arrests were the first

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset made as a result of findings by the Censor Board that was created last December after Mayor W. F. "Casey" Laman learned that the Joy Theaters, which feature "adult entertainment," would open.

The arrests were made only a few hours after an eight-foot fence, built on the orders of Laman, was completed on the sidewalk in front of the theater.

The fence was erected to hide the "pornographic filth" that Laman said was carried on advertising posters on the front of the theater.

Mrs. Judith Rogers, attorney for the theater, had said she planned to seek a federal court injunction ordering the city to remove the fence. She said the theater owners would seek $100,000 damages from the Censor Board and Laman. She also said she would seek to have an ordinance that created the Censor Board declared unconstitutional.

Mrs. Rogers could not be reached for comment Wednesday night after the theater was raided.

Those arrested were Claire

A. Bull, 46, Bobby D. Kusturin, 20, David G. Arthur, 25, and Gloria Jean Horn. They were charged with violation of a city ordinance which says it is unlawful for any theater to exhibit moving pictures that are "immoral, indecent, obscene, profane, licentious, lewd or against public morals."

City Atty. John T. Harmon said three members of the Censor Board visited the theater Tuesday and ordered the management to strike a number of scenes from movies that were being shown. Harmon said the theater management failed to comply with the Censor Board's request.

He said the scenes included "lesbianism, nudity, unnatural sex acts and other lewd and suggestive exhibitions."

When asked what action the city would take if the theater files suit in federal court, Harmon said, "I don't think that the federal court wants to come to North Little Rock and say that North Little Rock has to put up with this kind of filth."

EARTHQUAKE

The earthquake at Los Angeles and at Tuscany in Central Italy may be only the prelude in what could turn out to be the worst year for earth tremors in almost a decade. Government seismologists say there could be some 30 major quakes throughout the world registering 7 or more on the Richter scale—a potential major disaster in any heavily populated area. Los Angeles registered 6.5. Earthquakes can hit anywhere, but major zones are a broad band around the Pacific Ocean, where four out of every five occur, and from the Mediterranean to the Himalayas. Minor areas are in Africa, Australia-New Zealand and Iceland. Quakes occur along giant fractures, or faults, in the earth's crust. Shock waves released circle the earth or sometimes pass through it at eight miles a second.

Two Oklahoma Officers Shot to Death

EUFAULA, Okla. (AP) — A Highway patrolman and a park superintendent were killed and a game ranger critically wounded Wednesday evening near a lodge at Fountainhead State Park. Police were seeking two heavily armed young men in the shootings.

Killed were Highway Patrolman Bill J. Walker, 35, Checotah, and Park Supt. Leo Newton. Ranger W. L. Pickens was wounded.

Authorities said Walker took the two men into custody about at the entrance to an air strip near the lodge. He advised his dispatcher he had arrested two men for illegal possession of firearms and requested a wrecker for their car.

Newton's 14-year-old son, Ken, said his father had called home about an hour before the shooting and said he was watching two teenagers who had weapons in their car. The youth said he found the bodies after hearing shots fired in the area while riding his motorbike.

The area was immediately filled with law enforcement officers, because a federally funded law enforcement school was in progress at the lodge at the time.

Pickens and Newton were found on the road. Walker's body was found in a ditch 30 feet away.

No details of the encounter between Newton and Pickens and the gunmen were known.

A spokesman for the Arkansas State Police said the suspects escaped in a 1967 blue Plymouth-Volant station wagon with Texas license plates. Arkansas officers were on the lookout for the car.

Police said the two white males suspected in the shootings are armed with a .38-caliber pistol and a high-powered shotgun.

Watson Chapel Group Meets in Protest

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — About 300 persons attended a "goat roast" at a farm near Sulphur Springs Wednesday night in protest of the total integration of the Watson Chapel schools.

A spokesman said the "goat" represented U.S. Dist. Judge Oren E. Harris of El Dorado, who ordered the school district to implement a court-ordered desegregation plan or face punitive action for contempt of court.

SCHOOL AID

changes in the state election code was approved by the House 90-0. The measure, by Rep. John Pledge of Little Rock, provides in one section that a political party is one whose candidate for governor or whose presidential electors polled 7 per cent or more of the total vote.

The state also would recognize a party, however, if the party filed with the secretary of state a petition containing signatures equal to 7 per cent of the votes cast for governor in the preceding general election.

In other actions, the Senate: —Defeated 10-19 a bill by Sen. Milt Earnhart of Fort Smith to abolish the state Board of Pardons and Paroles and transfer its authority to the State Police.

—Approved 32-0 a bill by Sen. Virgil T. Fletcher of Benton a bill to require insurance companies to give agents 20-day notice of the reason for cancelling automobile coverage on a policyholder.

—Approved 30-0 a bill by Sen. John F. Gibson of Dermott requiring a court proceeding before a child may be taken from the custody of the parents.

—Approved 29-0 a bill by Gibson and Sen. Darrell Johnson of Van Buren to remove misdemeanors, such as prostitution, from offenses for which a woman may be confined in a state prison.

—Approved 30-0 an administration bill by Sen. Clarence E. Bell of Parkin to make the Commission on Higher Education Finance the state Board of Higher Education with broader authority over college and university curriculum.

—Approved 25-1 a bill to require licensing of the makers, sellers, buyers, transporters and users of explosives. Bell sponsored the bill, which also provides penalties for willful misuses of blasting agents. Sen. Dorothy Allen of Brinkley said, however, that she would request another vote on the bill.

On other bills, the House: —Approved 76-1 a bill to exempt from the 1969 child care facility licensing act any day care centers with six or fewer children.

—Defeated 33-49 an amendment by Rep. Ben Bynum of Siloam Springs to reduce the state real estate transfer tax from $3 per $1,000 of consideration to $1.50 per $1,000 of value. The amendment was offered to a bill by Rep. Ivan Rose of Rogers to cut the tax to $1.10 per $1,000 consideration.

5th Judicial Issue Gets Approval

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway got Senate approval Wednesday of a bill that would put the warring 5th Judicial Circuit prosecutor and judge in different circuits.

The bill goes to the House where, Jones said, 55 to 58 favorable votes are expected.

Circuit Court Judge Russell C. Roberts and the new prosecutor, Alex G. Streett, are part of opposing political factions in the district.

Jones' bill would put three of the circuit's five counties into a new 21st circuit and would send Streett there as prosecutor.

The other two counties of the present 5th circuit would be retained and consolidated with Perry County as a new 5th circuit to be presided over by Roberts.

Perry County now is combined with Pulaski County in the 6th circuit.

Jones told newsmen after the Senate action that his aim was to get Streett out of his own territory. He has been angry because of remarks made by Streett last year during the campaign for office.

Streett recently requested an attorney general's opinion on steps a prosecutor should follow in filing a felony indictment against a circuit judge.

The opinion was requested in light of a state Supreme Court decision that held as illegal fees charged in Roberts' court for suspended sentences.

The attorney general's office replied, in essence, that Streett would have to attempt certain procedures and discover from resulting court decrees which avenue was the right one.

Asked if Roberts supported the bill, Jones told newsmen, "He's not fighting it."

The counties presently in the 5th circuit are Pope, Johnson, Yell, Conway and Faulkner. The new 5th circuit would be composed of Faulkner, Conway and Perry, with Roberts as judge. The 21st circuit would be composed of Pope, Yell and Johnson, with Streett as prosecutor.

Roberts lives in Conway (Faulkner County) and Streett lives in Russellville (Pope County).

Jones said Gov. Dale Bumpers had told him he would not veto the bill. If the measure becomes law, Bumpers would have to name a new prosecutor for the new 5th circuit and a new judge for the new 21st circuit.

Sheriff Marlin Hawkins of Conway County has consulted several times with Jones in the back of the Senate chamber, but the senator declined to say whether the talks were related to the bill.

During last year's campaign, Streett was quoted as saying he did not solicit Jones' support because the senator attached strings when giving aid. Later, Jones said, Streett asked for help, but did not retract the published remark.

"Once a liar, a liar thereafter," Jones said of Streett.

Voting against Jones' bill were Sens. Oscar Alagood, Ben Allen, Joe T. Ford and Max Howell of Little Rock, Robert Harvey of Swift, Darrell Johnson of Van Buren, Nick Wilson of Pochontas and J. A.

voted upon this week. I spoke before the Committee in behalf of the proposal. In the past two decades American Mobile-home industry has filled a crucial gap in housing. Experts have agreed that this industry staved off what might have become a housing revolution. This bill was simply vital to the growth of one of Arkansas' most important (and, I must add non-polluting) industries.

3. TAXES AND TEACHERS

Last week we devoted this column to Governor Bumpers' tax program. It was not an endorsement but an explanation of the rationale of the plan as explained to us by the Governor and his staff.

A week has passed and the debate has intensified. . . the honeymoon of mandate is now over for the Governor (and for your state representative). The singlemost difficult task is what to do about keeping taxes low and yet providing the funds for the absolutely essential services of a growing educational system.

Fifty per cent of the proposed general revenue increase is earmarked for education, yet many legislators are opposed to the tax program. Educators, on the other hand, feel that even this amount will not stem the present state of deterioration.

I will always feel that education must be the first priority. The economic index of a state is directly related to the expenditure of funds for education. There is no doubt that a good educational system is the best long-term investment a state can make—and the one investment which pays the highest lifetime dividends.

The real culprit of all these problems, in my opinion, is the national inflationary spiral—any salary raise to any citizen is taken away by inflation before it can be put into the economy. This is why what happens in Washington drastically affects what must be done by the Arkansas Legislature. This must be corrected nationally before we can deal effectively with the problems here in Arkansas.

Arkansas is a poor state—but a rapidly developing state. I favor a method whereby the growth of education in Arkansas could be tied directly to the economic growth of the state. Our teachers would be assured of regular increases proportionate to the growth of Arkansas. In the meantime the Governor is asking for $26 million increase in revenues, 50 per cent going to education—particularly teachers' salary increases.

Because of the three-fourth majority required to pass such an increase, I feel that more legislators are turning to thoughts of an increase in the sales tax.

At this point I am placing my trust in the Executive Branch to find the most equitable solution for the immediate needs of the state. The Governor appears to be sticking to his program in spite of growing sentiment for the sales tax increase. This problem is far from solved as the public hearings have not yet reached a conclusion.

Some of the Governor's tax proposals to seemingly create hardships on certain segments of the economy.

Your representative has many days of soul-searching ahead.

Laos; no advisors will accompany the South Vietnamese forces; no ground troops or advisors will be used in Cambodia, "and we have no intention, of course, of using ground forces in North Vietnam."

Although Indochina dominated the 40-minute news conference, Nixon made these other points:

—Should construction industry leaders fail to agree on a voluntary wage and price freeze, the federal government will use its power to bring about "more reasonable settlements" than the customary 16 per cent wage increase and to stabilize prices.

—Federal law does not allow the government to force zoning changes as a means of combating housing segregation.

—He is not surprised his revenue-sharing proposal has encountered rough sledding in Congress and among labor and business organizations. "Down in the valley, where the people live, you will find there that the people in the front lines, the leaders in the front lines, the governors, the mayors, the county officials, an overwhelming majority of them are for revenue sharing."

—He rejected a suggestion he use his influence to overcome apparent Israeli objections to mediator Gunnar V. Jarring's latest peace proposal for the Middle East. He said Israel and the United Arab Republic have been "more forthcoming than we expected" and a "live-and-let-live" relationship might develop.

The President spoke confidently of the U.S.-supported drive in southern Laos by South Vietnamese forces. While resistance on the road to Sepone has been severe, he said, three supply trails leading toward South Vietnam were cut and the operation has gone according to plan.

By coupling this report with a bombing warning, the President appeared to notify Hanoi that a new push across the DMZ could find North Vietnam the target of full-scale American bombing.

"I think the very fact that the North Vietnamese know that I intend to take strong action to deal with that incursion means that they are not going to take it," Nixon said.

In any event, the President said, the Laotian operation had his approval although it is mostly in South Vietnamese hands.

"Wherever American participation to any extent is required, you can be sure that that decision will be made here," Nixon said.

Once again, he said no U.S. ground forces or advisors are being used in Laos and none will be used there or in Cambodia. Moreover, Nixon said, there is no reason to interpret the action in southern Laos as a thrust against Communist China.

"As you know, the Communist Chinese have been operating in northern Laos for some time," he said. "But this action is not directed against Communist China."

"It is directed against the North Vietnamese who are pointed towards South Vietnam and toward Cambodia."

Tanned and smiling, the President welcomed followup questions on Indochina.

Arkla Failed to File Clause About Penalty

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Failure by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. to file a "penalty clause" in a 1964 contract for the sale of natural gas to Continental Oil Co. with the state Public Service Commission could serve to strengthen Arkla's argument that contracts with the utility's industrial customers should be voided.

It was learned Wednesday that a long-term contract between Arkla and Conoco was approved by the commission in 1964, but the "penalty clause" was not in the contract that Arkla filed with the PSC.

The clause stated that Arkla agreed to pay a penalty of 8 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas it was unable to deliver to Conoco below 97 per cent of the amount agreed to in the contract.

Testimony concerning the clause was heard Wednesday in a hearing before the PSC to determine if Arkla's contracts with about 60 per cent of its largest industrial customers should be voided and replaced by uniform rates set by the PSC.

Arkla contends it must have higher rates from its industrial customers in order to finance a pipeline from the Anadarko Basin in Texas and Oklahoma to serve Arkansas customers.

Arkla says the failure to file the penalty clause with the PSC serves as an example of the mistakes that can be made under the current system of setting

—2,500 Saigon troops are in South Vietnam's central highlands, 12 miles from northeastern Cambodia and 200 miles south of the Route 9 operation.

—23,000 South Vietnamese troops are operating another 200 miles farther south on a 100-mile front, blocking Highways 1 and 7 leading from eastern Cambodia into the southern half of South Vietnam.

North Vietnamese forces continued to put up stiff resistance, both in Laos and Cambodia, with heavy anti-aircraft fire thrown up at the hundreds of U.S. helicopters supporting the drives.

Spokesmen announced that three more helicopters and an F4 Phantom fighter-bomber were downed in Laos. Three of the helicopter crewmen were rescued, but there was no report on the fate of the others.

The two fliers aboard the F4 were missing.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said the forwardmost elements of the Saigon forces in Laos had advanced westward about two miles and were now about 17 1/2 miles from the Vietnamese border and about eight miles from Sepone. South Vietnamese reconnaissance units have been moving in and out of Sepone since the operation began Feb. 8.

LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M. D.

Best Oils to Use In Your Cooking

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I enjoyed your article about saturated and unsaturated fats. Since you did not list soybean and cottonseed oils as unsaturated, am I right to assume that they are saturated? What does whipping do to shortening? What should ignorant people like me think about things that are O.K. and used for years and then suddenly, they're no good? For instance, oral diabetic tablets and cyclamate. And now cereals aren't as healthful as we've been told all these years. How do we innocent people know which foods and medicines are all right and which are not? It seems we cannot trust a thing because it's on the market or our doctor, in good faith, prescribes it.

Dear Reader—The common cooking oils all contain some saturated and some unsaturated fats. Safflower oil has the most polyunsaturated fat (linoleic acid) and the least saturated fat. Perhaps listing the common oils in the order of most to the least polyunsaturated fat will help you. They are: Safflower, corn, soybean, cottonseed, sesame, peanut, and olive oil. Olive oil has less than one-tenth as much polyunsaturated fat as safflower oil. Now let's look at the oils in terms of the most saturated fats. They are: Cottonseed, peanut, soybean, sesame, olive, corn, and safflower oil. From this listing and the actual values, in terms of large amounts of polyunsaturated fats and least amount of saturated fats, the three best oils in order are safflower, corn and soybean oil.

Hardened oils are those made more solid by adding hydrogen or making them into saturated fat.

Whipping shortening only adds air and does nothing to the important chemical structure of the fat.

What and whom can you trust? You can trust that whatever we believe today will change tomorrow. That is the nature of life and progress. When we learn more we have to sometimes modify our previous opinions, if we still have flexible minds. In every field we make mistakes but the trend is for constant improvement. Both in terms of nutrition and medicine we are far ahead of where we were a century ago. There has always been change. The rapid news media and well-informed public just learns more about it sooner these days.

Not everyone agrees that cereals are not so good. Certainly, the cooked cereals like oatmeal have a lot of nutrition in them, as do most of the whole grain cereals. A bowl of commercial cereal, with fresh fruit, sugar and low-fat milk fortified with extra proteins has a lot of good food value in it.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The World Almanac notes that the greatness of President Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was not immediately recognized. However, Edward Everett, who spoke preceding Lincoln, wrote him: "I should be glad if I could flatter myself that I came as near the central idea of the occasion in two hours as you did in two minutes."

Z is back. Our older readers will remember that he used to sit South and play all the hands in the auction bridge columns. His regular partner was Y, while the defense was handled by A and B.

Y and Z weren't very good bidders. They didn't have to be. If Z held the North hand, he would probably have opened one no-trump in spite of having only 14 high-card points but Y only bid no-trump when his hand cried for that bid. Y just wanted to be dummy so that Z could operate.

Actually, the Y, Z bidding was perfect today. Y's club opening was correct in either JACOBY MODERN or standard American, as were the subsequent bids.

West continued hearts after his ace held the first trick. Z was careful to play low from dummy. He ruffed in his own hand, cashed the ace of trumps and led a second trump to dummy's queen.

Then he remarked, "If West holds the king of diamonds and queen of clubs, I can make an overtrick with a club finesse and a diamond lead to dummy's queen. However, it looks as if East will hold both those cards for his overall and rebid. When I played this hand for R. F. Foster around 1923, it seems to me that the proper line of play was to make sure of 10 tricks."

After that remark, Z called for dummy's queen of hearts. East covered with the king. Z discarded a club and showed his hand. A diamond would ride around to dummy's queen, a club would ride into the jaws of death and a heart lead would allow a ruff and discard.

Most Wives Work

By CARLTON SMITH

America has become a society of working wives.

We've had for many years a substantial majority of women in the labor force—mostly single. But now there's something new. If you're a married woman who doesn't work, you're in the minority.

The number of working wives "increased dramatically" in the past decade, says a special labor force report just published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Ten years ago only about four women in 10 were employed. By 1969, 53 per cent of all women over the age of 16 were counted in the labor force, full or part time.

It was among young wives that the most dramatic increase occurred. In the 20-to-24 age group, two-thirds of the wives were employed. Even of those with children, more than half worked.

At least partly responsible, economist Howard V. Hayghe seems to suggest, is the new flexibility in family planning given to women by The Pill. He attributed part of the employment pattern to "a rise in the proportion of young wives who are postponing having their first child."

However, it's not only the younger women who are on the increase in the work force, and among the older age groups the proportion of full-time, all-year workers increases. Only about 40 per cent of the working wives under 25 are employed full-time. In the 25-to-44 age group the percentage rises to 52, and in the 45-to-64 group it shoots up to two-thirds.

It's becoming part of a standard pattern, obviously, for women to settle into regular employment once children are through school and out of the home.

The incentive for younger wives to supplement the family income is often, says Hayghe, a desire "to set aside funds for such purposes as buying a home and for educating children."

There's no explanation offered for the pronounced return-to-work pattern among older women but it's not hard to guess at. All studies of family economic behavior show three principal motivations behind most savings and investment programs—funds for a home, for education of the children and for retirement.

One easily drawn conclusion is that the steadily rising costs of living are behind it all. Houses and college educations are rapidly being priced out of reach for many families. Only a second income makes them possible.

But there is probably a second influence, almost as strong. It's what observers of American society have called the climate of rising expectations. People expect more, of themselves and for themselves, than did an earlier generation.

Whatever the pressures that have turned America into a society of working women and working wives, there's one result that the militant feminists can only approve. It wasn't too long ago that a working wife was liable to cause disparaging remarks to be made about dad's ability as a breadwinner or sly questions about who wore the pants in the family.

Hayghe notes that "it is much more socially acceptable now than a decade or more ago for a wife to assume an important role in bringing home the bread. And as for who wears the pants in the family—why, they're all the rage now in women's wear."

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The television special, long a device to relieve the tedium of weekly series, appears beset by a recession economy and the dictates of the Federal Communications Commission.

At a New York Forum two weeks ago the programming chiefs of all three networks agreed that 1971-72 will bring fewer specials than previous seasons.

This trend already had been predicted by observers of the television scene. A principal reason is the order by the FCC for all networks to cut back to three hours of prime-time programming per night.

NBC, which introduced the special in 1954—it was called "spectacular"—then—and has led the field since, admits that it will have to cut down presentations of nonseries programs.

"The reason we will have fewer next year," says William Storke, vice president for specials, "is the purely mechanical problem of the compression of time. We plan to have as many diverse specials as possible and we're still committed to being number one in the field. But the accordion schedule simply can't digest 100 specials, as NBC presented this season."

ABC expects to present about 25 specials next season, approximately the same as during 1970-71. CBS, which also aired about 25, would make no prediction. But CBS programming chief Fred Silverman indicated there would be fewer specials, as well as less experimentation in all programming because of the shorter prime time schedule.

Economics also have been hurting the special.

Item: The April 15 Oscar ceremonies, generally one of the highest-rated shows of the year, still is only one-third sponsored. Texaco has bought a third, but other sponsors are balking at the price tag: $166,000 per minute.

Item: The March 28 Tony awards, which also draw a large audience, is only half-sold. Says ABC's nighttime programming chief, Edwin Vane: "This is the 25 anniversary of the Tony awards, and Alexander Cohen, the producer, has promised to present all the past winners who are available. Ordinarily that kind of show would be easy to sell. But not this year."

Specials offer little profit, yet all networks maintain varying degrees of enthusiasm for them. The motives:

1. Specials lend diversity to programming, answering critics who bewail the steady diet of situation comedies, cops-and-robbers and horse operas.

2. Specials can provide high points for the ratings race, which all the networks remain aware of. A few high-rated specials can win the week for a network.

3. Specials can act as pilot programs for potential series. ABC tried out shows starring Johnny Cash, Tom Jones and Englebert Humperdinck, and is offering another special with Diana Ross as a series hopeful.

4. Specials often take top honors in the Emmies and other awards and so lend prestige to the networks.

For these reasons, the special will no doubt prevail.

FOXY PROFESSOR outfoxes the cranes. Professor Torild Brander, ornithologist of Helsinki, Finland, has long been interested in preventing damage to oat and barley crops by cranes as they fly south each fall. He came up with this decoy, shaped and colored like a fox. When planted in the fields on a long pole, it has yielded excellent results in keeping the big birds away.

The Woman's Edge In Food Business

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Nutrition Columnist

What about Women's Lib and the food business?

"I'm not optimistic that it will bring changes. My theory is—if you can't beat the system, you don't have to join it. But you can out-smart it. That's what I did," Ruth Lundgren says. For 20 years she has headed her own successful business of consumer food education.

"I'm in a profession where the best of jobs usually go to men. But I felt I had an advantage in my field. I had something the boys didn't have. I knew what it meant to be a woman."

Her job is to close the communication gap between food producer and the housewife.

"Don't tell me this is the first age of new foods. There have always been new foods. Two decades ago, I started American housewives eating South African lobster tails. At first, that was a rough assignment. Women didn't know about them. They had to be shown. So I set about showing them. Sales have jumped from a million pounds a year to 40 million pounds last year. You see what consumer education can do," she says.

She expects to do the same with frozen South African whiting, the sweet and most delicate fish.

A widow for six years, she has two sons, aged 14 and 16, a home in Long Island, and a small yacht.

"I always have been a career woman. I am convinced that the working mother is usually better organized, more disciplined, more used to establishing realistic deadlines. These habits rub off on her children," she says, adding:

"But I don't feel a woman has the right to neglect her children. If she can't arrange for a competent person to be responsible for them while she is at work, then she must forego her career until she can. But, fortunately, I have had a wonderful housekeeper for years."

She believes women can pick up their professions later in life without penalty. But they must be willing to put into the job as much as the men they are working with.

Miss Lundgren always tries to be rational in her dealings at the office and at home.

"But, if speaking softly is impossible, then I believe in shouting rather than sulking," she confesses.

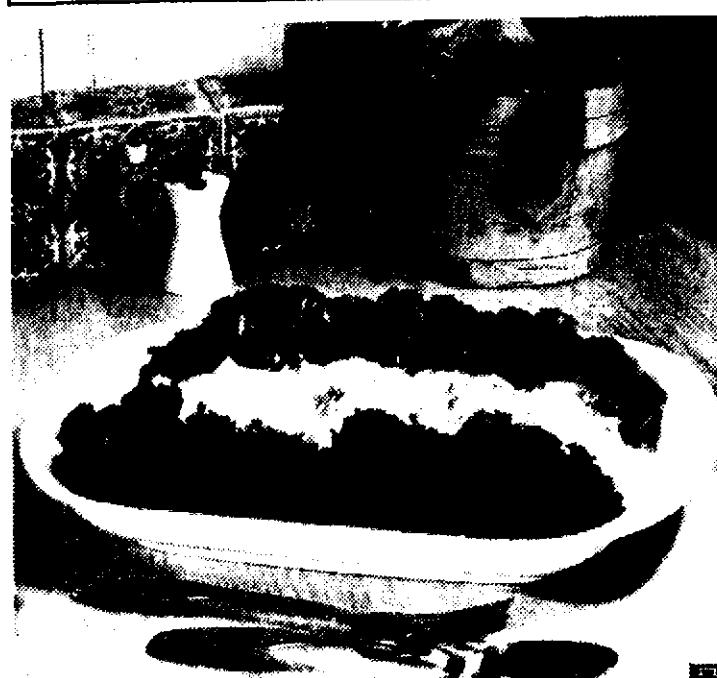

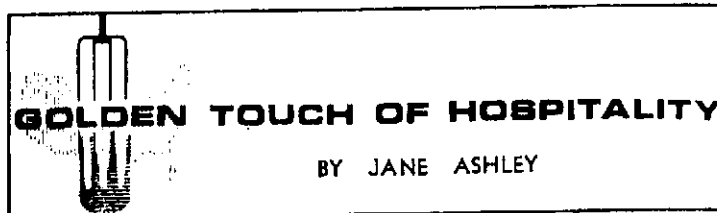

"In this age of specialization, I am convinced there are some areas of interest in which women can perform better than men. Simply because they are women, not in spite of it," she states.

She and her sons are completely water-oriented and she is a contributing editor of Motor Boating and Sailing magazine.

I am going to insist, with all the authority I have and with all the powers of persuasion at my command, that all existing means of controlling pollution be applied, across the board, in every city and town and on every industry in this country—starting right now.

Dress Broccolini with Cheese Sauce

To serve Broccolini with Cheese Sauce, begin by cooking the broccolini in a manner to seal in all the flavor, color and vitamins. Then top it with a creamy cheese sauce.

To cook the broccolini, trim, wash and drain but do not dry. Place 1 tablespoon margarine and desired seasonings in a saucepan with a tight fitting cover. Add broccolini and 1 table-spoon of water. Cook over medium to low heat 8 to 10 minutes or until broccolini is tender, shaking the pan several times to prevent sticking and adding more water if necessary.

Creamy Cheese Sauce

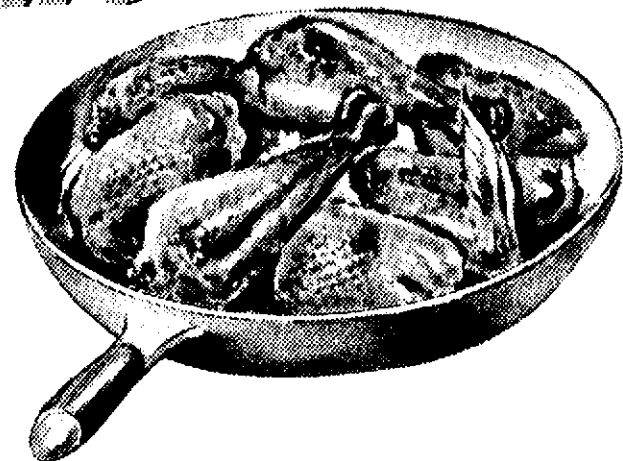

2 tablespoons margarine 1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon corn starch 1/2 cup finely shredded cheddar cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt

Melt margarine in a saucepan. Mix in corn starch, salt and milk. Gradually add milk, mixing constantly. Add cheese and stir until melted. Stir in salt. Makes 1/2 cup.

Egypt Will Comply If Israel Does

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Egypt has informed U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring that it will pledge compliance with the Security Council's 1967 resolution on the Middle East if Israel does likewise, Cairo's authoritative newspaper Al Ahram reported today.

The reply to last week's peace initiative by Jarring urged him to obtain from Israel a pledge to "discharge the obligations contained in the resolution," Al Ahram said. It listed them as Israeli withdrawal from all territory occupied in the 1967 war, "a just solution to the Palestinian problem" and a formal declaration renouncing the use of force, territorial occupation and expansionism.

The note agreed to provide Jarring a declaration of Egypt's intentions and promised a pledge "to uphold responsibilities stemming from the execution of the resolution" if the promise were obtained from Israel, according to the semi-official newspaper.

Jarring's proposals asked for declarations of intent from Israel, Egypt and Jordan, holding indirect peace talks via him at the United Nations in New York, and asked their views on how to bring peace to the region. It also gave the Swedish diplomat's ideas on a satisfactory settlement, which is understood to include Israeli withdrawal from the Suez Canal and the Sinai peninsula and stationing of U.N. soldiers at Sharm el Sheikh, at the foot of the Sinai, to safeguard Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba and the Strait of Tiran.

Passed on Nov. 22, 1967, five months after the six-day war, the Security Council resolution provides for Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist within "secure and recognized boundaries;" an end to Arab belligerence; Israeli navigation rights in the Gulf of Aqaba and the Suez canal; a just solution to the problem of Palestinians displaced when Israel was established in 1948; and Israeli withdrawal from the occupied territories.

The Israelis have made clear that they plan to retain some of the occupied territory and have refused to withdraw at all without a peace treaty.

Arkla Admits Selling Gas to Others

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Industrial customers of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. testified Tuesday that during 1970 while Arkla curtailed delivery of gas to in-state customers, the utility sold billions of cubic feet of gas to out-of-state gas companies for re-sale purposes.

The statement was made before the state Public Service Commission.

B. E. Harrell, Arkla vice president for gas supply and industrial sales, admitted that Arkla had sold more than 4 billion cubic feet of gas to the Mississippi River Transmission Corp. which in turn sold the fuel to customers in Missouri.

Harrell said that Arkla felt obligated to sell the gas to the out-of-state firm because many times Mississippi River Transmission had supplied Arkla with gas for use in East Arkansas.

He also said that the firm had assured Arkla that the gas was being used only for human needs customers.

The Public Service Commission has been conducting hearings to determine whether the commission should void Arkla's existing long-term contracts with about 60 industrial customers. Arkla contends that because of a current gas shortage, more money is needed from industrial customers to finance construction of a pipeline into the Anadarko Basin in western Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

Many U.S. Citizens Jailed Abroad

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says 1,100 Americans are in jail abroad, more than 700 of them on drug charges, and there is little that can be done for them.

When a U.S. citizen is picked up by police in a foreign country, the consul visits him in jail, helps him obtain a lawyer and communicate with his family, may attend the trial and tries to insure fair treatment, said Barbara M. Watson, administrator of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs.

"This does not mean fair treatment by American due-process standards, but rather by a somewhat vague standard of accepted international practice," she told the International Aviation Club Tuesday.

"Many Americans seem to believe that because they are Americans they should be immune from arrest when they violate a foreign law, particularly when there is no similar law in this country," Miss Watson said.

"They are often surprised to learn that very likely they will not be entitled to a trial by jury, or to confront witnesses against them or to exercise various other rights that are basic under our legal system."

"The American who runs afoul of the law while abroad may well find himself detained for many months without bail while his case is being investigated and before formal charges are lodged."

"On the other hand, once the investigation is completed he may well find that his trial is much too speedy for his taste."

"He may have only a few days to prepare his defense. His trial will rarely last more than one day, and any appeal he takes will probably be decided within the week."

Miss Watson said Americans generally receive equal or better treatment in foreign courts than the nationals of that country or other aliens.

Often they receive lighter sentences and better jail accommodations, she said.

In Turkey, however, possession of a pipeful of hashish can bring a minimum of three years imprisonment, she said. Other countries also have started cracking down hard on drug offenses.

"We have tried in many ways to warn Americans going abroad that, rather than a narcotic nirvana, several years in an ancient and crowded prison may await them," she said.

Kaye Returning to Musical

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Kaye says he will return to the cast of the musical "Two by Two" Thursday with his left leg in a cast, and perhaps using a crutch and wheelchair.

Kaye slipped on stage two weeks ago and tore a ligament in his ankle. Without him, the show has been doing none too well at the box office.
